

Looking at the three different browsers, I only see one noticeable difference, and I think I know why. When on the site in Chrome, the clickable spot for “Our Menu” in the “Modern Fusion & Bar” section is purple, whereas in Safari and Opera it’s blue. I believe this is due to the fact that my default browser for editing and viewing is Chrome, and I only checked the contact page in safari by opening it straight from VSC, and not by clicking the link on the home page.
